

FSIS is Hiring Food Inspectors!

Join FSIS Professionals in Protecting Public Health

The Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) employs approximately 9,000 federal employees across the United States. We work collectively to conduct a broad range of food safety activities to achieve our overall vision - that everyone's food is safe.

FSIS employees are highly trained, motivated, and skilled professionals. Our workforce is critical to the mission of the Agency and we strive to ensure that FSIS is a great place to work.

Browse our Career Opportunities Online

Search Jobs

fsis.usda.gov/careers/job-opportunities

Benefits

fsis.usda.gov/careers/incentives/federal-employee-benefits-summary

Qualifications

1 year of specialized experience gained after your 16th birthday related to the food industry (e.g., experience in a meat or poultry slaughter, processing, or other food manufacturing plant, meat cutter/butcher, quality control/lab, chef/cook, veterinary technician).

or

B.S. degree or full 4-year course of study in any field leading to a Bachelor's degree from an accredited college/university that includes at least 12 semester or 18 quarter hours in biology, mathematics, physical or agriculture sciences.

U.S. citizenship is required.

Competitive starting salary based on locality. Overtime is compensated and benefits are included. Visit usajobs.gov for more information.

Follow FSIS for the latest news and updates.

@USDAFoodSafety

USDA-FSIS